

Screen with an HPV test and treat with cryotherapy, or LEEP when not eligible for cryotherapy

When an HPV test is positive, treatment is provided. With this strategy, visual inspection with acetic acid (VIA) is used to determine eligibility for cryotherapy.

Note: Refer to the screen-and-treat recommendations provided in Chapter 3 of the guideline for guidance about which strategies are recommended, and for information on the specific factors to consider when deciding on a strategy.
